LAUGHLIN HOUSING MARKET INFORMATION

With a population of 7,770, 3,906 total housing units (homes and apartments), and a median house value of $163,865, Laughlin real estate and house prices are near the national average for all cities and towns.

Large apartment complexes or high rise apartments are the single most common housing type in Laughlin, accounting for 54.56% of the town's housing units. Other types of housing that are prevalent in Laughlin include single-family detached homes (23.89%), duplexes, homes converted to apartments or other small apartment buildings (9.86%), and a few row houses and other attached homes (8.52%). This particular housing mix is relatively uncommon and characteristic of towns that are compact and walkable, and which often have a lively downtown.

People in Laughlin primarily live in small (one, two or no bedroom) units, chiefly found in large apartment complexes or high rise apartments. Laughlin has a mixture of owner-occupied and renter-occupied housing.

There is a lot of housing in Laughlin built from 1970 to 1999 so parts of town may have that "Brady Bunch" look of homes popular in the '70s and early 1980s although some of these houses were built up through the early '90s as well. There is also a lot of housing in Laughlin built between 2000 and later (17.42%). A lesser amount of the housing stock also hails from between 1940-1969 (2.83%).

Vacant housing appears to be an issue in Laughlin. Fully 28.32% of the housing stock is classified as vacant left unchecked vacant Laughlin homes and apartments can be a drag on the real estate market holding Laughlin real estate prices below levels they could achieve if vacant housing was absorbed into the market. Housing vacancy rates are a useful measure to consider, along with other things, if you are a home buyer or a real estate investor.

According to statistics rental vacancies in Southern Nevada decreased in the first quarter of 2018, extending a four year long streak. Vacancy stood at 5.1 percent in the first quarter, 0.6 percentage points lower than one year ago, and 0.3 percentage points lower than in the fourth quarter of 2017.

Employment growth in the technology, construction and hospitality sectors will lift the city's rental market in 2018 & 2019. Above-average employment and population growth will help as well: the Las Vegas market will rank No. 6 for job growth, with gains of 3.2 percent, and its population of adults ages 20 to 34 - a prime rental demographic - will grow faster than any other city's, at nearly 3 percent. Housing prices are up.

Decreased supply + increased demand = rising rental rates Simple economics. Rent rates are steadily increasing in our market and vacant "days on market" is down. Demand for rentals in many zip codes has increased tremendously. TENANT SCREENING:

The screening process is where the strongest work must take place. Securing great tenants is in everyone's best interest. Cen-turion Management uses a resident screening process that analyzes income, credit, rent payment history, employment history, background check and other factors that indicate the likelihood the tenant we place in the home will perform according to his/her obligations under the rental contract. Did You Know? Due to Centurion's comprehensive Tenant screening process we have less than a 2% eviction rate over a 5 year period.

WHAT KIND OF CONDITION DOES MY PROPERTY NEED TO BE IN TO FIND A QUALITY TENANT?

The property's condition is one of the most important aspects of marketing a vacant rental property. Properties that are not "Rent Ready" when they're placed on the rental market tend to be slower to rent and attract renters who are not only willing to settle for less than top quality, but who treat their rental properties with less care and concern than we want to achieve for our owners. Furthermore, quality renters typically can't envision what the property will look like after we do this or that...telling the prospect we're going to be painting, or going to be replacing carpets is virtually useless. The first impression of a vacant property is the lasting impression of that property. That's why we urge our owners to take care of the basics: fresh paint, clean floor coverings, functional window blinds, and everything in good working order. The results are always much better when we approach the marketing process with a rent ready home!

PLEASE NOTE:

All move-out reports will list majority tenant repairs of which tenant security deposit will pay for. Owner repairs will be very limited to avoid additional move-out costs to our owners.
